Find their button

Fear of loss · Indifference · Greed · Sense of urgency

Find it with questions. Then hit it on every slide.

THE FOUR BUTTONS — FIGS

Every homeowner buys on one

F - Fear of loss

Protection and peace of mind: 15 years in business, the state license, $1M/$2M insurance, the warranty, "you won't have to worry about this again".

I - Indifference

Make them CARE: what waiting costs (a leak, a non-renewal, prices going up every year), and tie the roof to something that matters to them.

G - Greed

Value and savings: the insurance discount, energy savings up to 40%, the Low-Bid Price Match plus 10% of the difference, financing, what they get for the money.

S - Sense of urgency

Speed and a plan: the start date, how fast the permit goes, getting on the schedule today.

HOW YOU FIND IT

Ask. Listen. Confirm.

1 · Ask open questions

As you go — the question fits the slide you're already on. Never a yes/no.

2 · Listen to the answer

Their first words usually tell you the button. Follow up on the clue.

3 · Confirm it

Say it back: “So what really matters to you is... right?” Get the yes.

4 · Keep hitting it

Same slides, same points — lead with the part that hits their button.

WHAT IT SOUNDS LIKE

Listen for

F - Fear of loss

- "What if..." worries: a leak, the ceiling, the floors, the family
- The insurance company: renewal letters, being dropped, "they inspected the roof"
- Bad contractor stories: "the last guy disappeared", "will you be around?"
- Leans in on the license, the insurance, the warranty

I - Indifference

- "It's been fine so far", "we'll get to it eventually"
- "Whatever you think", no preference on colors or options
- Short answers, low energy, easily sidetracked

G - Greed

- "What's the best deal you can do?", "is there a discount?"
- Perks up at savings: insurance discount, energy savings, anything free
- Asks for the numbers, financing terms, "what do I get for my money?"

S - Sense of urgency

- A deadline: insurance renewal date, hurricane season, a sale or refinance, family visiting
- "How soon can you start?", "how long does it take?"
- "We can't wait on this", a leak getting worse

CONFIRM IT

Say it back — get the yes

F It sounds like what really worries you is losing your coverage / something going wrong. Is that fair?

I What would have to happen for the roof to become a priority for you?

G If I could show you how this pays for part of itself, would that matter to you?

S What's your timeline? Is there a date this has to be done by?

Keep it short and keep asking questions — involvement is what wakes them up.

Tie each one to them: "If someone got hurt in your driveway, who pays?" — make it personal.

Their slide. It is not IF, it is WHEN — and when costs more. Get them to say it.

A quick story about a homeowner who waited and paid for it.

The cost of waiting: materials go up every year, the insurance savings are lost every month it waits.

Keep it moving; ask what part matters to them.

Get them choosing: "Which color do you see on this house?" — a small decision gets them invested.

Short: "One less thing you ever have to think about."

Money leaving the house every month while they wait.

Close on a small decision first (the color, the package), then the date. Give them a reason to do it now.
